ABOUT THE ARTIST

Late Night Therapy is the sonic world of Australian artist Harry Suttor, a singer/multi-instrumentalist, whose music sits somewhere between the psych journeys of Tame Impala and the hypnotic dance grooves of Rufus Du Sol.

Fusing live instrumentation with electronic production, Late Night Therapy crafts immersive tracks that feel like lucid dreams you can dance to. With his voice, guitar, synths, and sample drumming Harry brings audiences on a journey of sound and emotion, guiding crowds through dance to a state of euphoria.

Sounds like: Whomadewho, Claptone, Monolink, Jan Blomqvist, Tame Impala, Rufus Du Sol.
